

Writing competition- Mountain Pass

Closing Date - Monday 5 December

The mountain had stood proudly for thousands of years , casting a solemn shadow for miles around. Not many people dared to go near its base, let alone scale its heights, fearing what awaited at the summit. One brave adventurer found it too tempting to resist. Some called her courageous, others foolish, but it mattered not to her now. Bracing herself against the icy wind, the lone figure prepared herself for the challenge ahead...
